INTRODUCTION

This manual was developed by The National Accreditation and Equivalency Council of The Bahamas (NAECOB). Its purpose is:

i. To provide guidelines and approval for Post-Secondary Institutions seeking to offer Distance Education, Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education Courses and Programmes.

ii. To provide an assessment framework for institutions in the process of designing and developing Distance Education, Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education Courses and Programmes.

iii. To act as a quality assurance evaluation tool for those institutions already involved in Distance Education, Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education Courses and Programmes offerings.

These guidelines comprise eleven (11) standards of quality assurance for Distance Education programmes as adapted NAECOB.
POLICY STATEMENT
Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education Courses/Programmes

1. At the time of review of the Application for Registration of Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education Courses or Programmes, Institutions must be fully registered, and in good standing with NAECOB.

2. An institution is expected to have clearly defined and appropriate student learning outcomes for each Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid or Correspondence Education Course or Programme.

3. The institution must demonstrate that the student who registers in a Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education Course or Programme is the same student who participates in, and completes the Course or Programme.

4. The institution must ensure that the student who completes a Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education Course or Programme, receives the credit by verifying the identity of the student who participates in class or coursework by using, at the option of the institution, methods such as (1) a secure login and pass code, (2) proctored examinations, and (3) new or other technologies and practices that are effective in verifying student identification.

5. The institution must provide written documentation that it has a written procedure for distribution at the time of registration or enrollment that notifies students of any projected additional charges associated with verification of student identity.

6. The institution must provide written documentation of its procedure for protecting the privacy of students enrolled in Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education Courses or Programmes.

7. Institutions offering Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education Courses or Programmes must ensure that it reports accurate student enrollment on its annual institutional report submitted to NAECOB.

8. Institutions must ensure that its Distance Learning, Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education Courses or Programmes comply with the principles of registration.

9. Institutions are expected to provide NAECOB with advance notice of its intent to make any significant changes (i.e. course content, credits, delivery mode, etc.) to its Distance Learning, Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education Courses or Programmes by submitting a Substantive Change Proposal.
STANDARDS OF QUALITY AND ASSURANCE OUTLINE

The following Quality Assurance Standards (QAS) ensure that institutions comply with NAECOB’s Standards for effective assessment, design, development, implementation, and evaluation of its Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes.

1. The institution’s Pedagogy for Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid or Correspondence Education is aligned with its mission and vision statements.

2. The institution incorporates its Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes in its system of governance and academic policies.

3. The institution ensures the academic standards, integrity, and best practices of its Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes are upheld.

4. Curricula for the institution’s Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid or Correspondence Education courses/programmes are coherent, cohesive, and comparable in academic rigor to programmes offered in traditional instructional formats.

5. The institution provides sufficient, appropriate, and effective learning resources to support and, where necessary, updates its Hybrid Learning courses/programmes in an effort to stay current with international standards in Higher Education.

6. The institution ensures that it has adequate physical space and infrastructure to facilitate learning and improve student outcomes in its Hybrid Education courses/programmes.

7. The institution identifies appropriately qualified faculty to effectively deliver Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid or Correspondence Education courses/programmes, and evaluate students’ success in achieving its goals and objectives.

8. The institution has a strategic plan for the continued development, sustainment, and if appropriate, expansion of its Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes.

9. The institution provides effective technological support services for students enrolled in its Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes.

10. The institution provides the necessary student and academic services to foster effective learning.

11. The institution monitors and evaluates the effectiveness of its Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes, including the extent to which the learning outcomes are attained, and uses the results of its evaluations to enhance achievement of its goals.
1. The institution’s pedagogy for Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education is aligned with its mission and vision statements.
   i. The role of Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes is explained in the institution’s mission statement.
   ii. Support for Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education must be evident in the institution’s vision statement.
   iii. Institutional goals for meeting the student experience must be incorporated into its educational platforms.
   iv. Students enrolled in Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes, must meet the admission requirements.

2. The institution incorporates its Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes in its system of governance and academic policies.
   i. Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education platforms follows standard processes used in the institution’s traditional offerings.
   ii. The quality of the instruction and the rigor of the offering are assured by the Institution.
   iii. The contractual relationships and arrangements between the institution and consortia Partners (where applicable), and the institution’s responsibility for the academic quality of all Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes are clearly documented.

3. The institution ensures the academic standards, integrity, and best practices of its Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes are upheld.
   a. Institutions offering Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes, must demonstrate compliance with registration procedures. Institutions must ensure that the student who registers for a course or program is the same student who participates in, and completes the course/programme, and receives the academic credit.
   b. The institution’s policies on academic integrity, and faculty and students’ responsibilities must be articulated.
   c. Academic integrity must be addressed during student registration/enrollment.
d. The institution must clearly document policies and procedures to protect students’ privacy. At the time of registration/enrollment, students must be notified of any projected cost associated with the verification process.

e. Institution must document processes to secure student logins and passwords to access online activities.

f. Faculty members engaged in Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes must be adequately trained on issues of academic integrity, and encouraged to identify and report suspected violations.

4. Curricula for the institution’s Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes are coherent, cohesive, and comparable in academic rigor to programmes offered in traditional instructional formats.

i. The academic rigor of Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid or Correspondence Education courses/programmes must be aligned to traditional instructional formats.

ii. The curricula goals and course objectives show that the institution has knowledge best practices used in various disciplines and fields of study for Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes.

iii. The curriculum is coherent in its content and sequencing of courses that is evident in documentation including course syllabi and program descriptions.

iv. Scheduling of online learning courses and programs that provides students with a reasonable timeline to ensure timely completion of degrees must be provided.

v. The institution must establish and enforce policies for Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes.

vi. Expectations for any required face-to-face, on-ground work (e.g., internships, specialized laboratory work) are stated clearly.

vii. Course design and delivery supports student-student and faculty-student interaction.

5. The institution provides sufficient, appropriate, and effective learning resources to support and, where necessary, updates its Distance Learning and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes in an effort to stay current with international standards in Higher Education.

i. The institution’s budget for Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid or Correspondence Education courses/programmes provides for assessment of program demand, marketing, appropriate levels and skills set of faculty and staff, faculty and staff development, library, information, communication and technology infrastructure and resources.
6. The institution ensures that it has adequate physical space and infrastructure to facilitate learning and improve student outcomes for its Hybrid Learning courses.

   i. The institution has adequate safe and suitable classroom/activities, building space and infrastructure to facilitate student learning outcomes.

   ii. Institution has a strategic plan for operating expenditures, building maintenance, and upgrades and where necessary, structural replacement.

   iii. Classrooms, laboratories, libraries and student activities spaces must be accessible to all students including those with disabilities.

7. The institution identifies appropriately qualified faculty to effectively deliver Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes, and evaluate students’ success in achieving its goals and objectives.

   i. The institution’s Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid or Correspondence Education courses/programmes incorporates tested good practices in online learning pedagogy, and uses current and appropriate software products.

   ii. Persons identified by the institution for oversite of the Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes must have the competencies to accomplish the tasks, including knowledge of the specialized resources and technical support needed to support course development and delivery.

   iii. Appropriately qualified faculty with responsibility for Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes must be proficient with use of a range of software products identified by the institution. Additionally, they must receive periodic training, and frequent evaluation.

   iv. The institution must provide evidence of student satisfaction with the quality of the instruction provided by online learning faculty members.

8. The institution has a strategic plan for the continued development, sustainment, and if appropriate, expansion of its Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes.

   i. Institutional goals and projections to increase the number of courses/programmes provided through Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes and/or numbers of students to be enrolled in them are evident.

   ii. Plans for online learning are linked effectively to budget and technology planning to ensure adequate support for current and future offerings.

   iii. The institution provides documented evidence that programme assessment, needs analysis and recommendation for continued support of Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes are ongoing.
9. The institution provides adequate and effective technological support services for students enrolled in its Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes.

i. Students have access to and can effectively use appropriate library resources.

ii. Students enrolled in distance education courses are able to use the technology employed, have the equipment necessary to succeed, and are provided assistance in using the technology employed.

iii. Access to laboratories, facilities, and equipment appropriate to the courses or programmes, is provided.

10. The institution provides the necessary student and academic services to foster effective learning.

i. Students are provided with adequate information about the nature of Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid or Correspondence Education courses/programmes, to assist them in conducting self-assessment to determine if they possess the required skills for being successful in these learning platforms.

ii. The institution provides an online learning orientation program including navigation of the Learning Management System.

iii. The institution provides support services to students in formats appropriate to the delivery of the online learning programme.

iv. Students in Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid or Correspondence Education courses/programmes have adequate access to student services, including course registration.

v. Students in Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid or Correspondence Education courses/programmes have adequate/ready access to learning resources, including library, information resources, laboratories, and equipment and tracking systems, and 24/7 technical support.

vi. Publications and advertising for Online Learning, Hybrid or Correspondence Education courses/programmes are accurate and contain necessary information such as programme goals, requirements, academic calendar, and faculty.

vii. Students are provided with reasonable and cost-effective ways to participate in the institution’s system of student authentication.

11. The institution monitors and evaluates the effectiveness of its Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes, including the extent to which the learning outcomes are attained, and uses the results of its evaluations to enhance the achievement of its goals.
i. Good practice methods are employed during assessment of student learning.

ii. Evaluation of the effectiveness of academic and support services provided to students in Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid or Correspondence Education courses/programmes is evident, and its results are used for improvement.

iii. The institution demonstrates the appropriate use of technology to support its assessment strategies.

iv. Appropriate goals for the retention/persistence of students using the platforms are continuously assessed and measured.
PRINCIPLES OF REGISTRATION
Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education Courses and Programmes

Guideline Statements
Institutions should consider the following guideline statements in the implementation of and reporting on Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid or Correspondence Education courses and programmes.

Mission
If an institution offers Distance Learning, Online Learning, Hybrid or Correspondence Education courses or programmes, it should be reflected in the institution’s mission statement. Further, online and hybrid courses should be designed to serve the academic needs and interests of the various student population, and delivered in a way that allows for the best possibility of learning and student success.

Suitability
The institution must confirm that the course content and learning outcomes are suitable to Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes offerings.

Academic Standards

- Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses or programmes must reflect the same standards of academic integrity, rigor and quality of instruction as traditional classroom-based courses.

- The technology used must be appropriate to the nature, structure and objectives of the courses and programmes, and expectations concerning the use of such technology are clearly communicated to students.

- Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses or programs policies are clear concerning copyright issues, ownership of materials, and the creation and production of software, tele-courses, or other media productions.

- An institution entering into consortia arrangements or contractual agreements (i.e. AA or MOUs) for the delivery of courses/programmes and or related co-curricular activities or services offered by Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses or programmes, must ensure that sound and acceptable practices for determining the effectiveness, and quality of the courses/programmes offered by all of the participants are employed.

- Academic and technical support services are appropriate and specifically related to Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programs.

- Programme length is appropriate for each of the institution’s Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses or programs. The Course Name and Number specifically indicates that the course is offered online [E.g. ENG 1301-4-01 (the 4 indicates online); MAT 1504-H-01 (the H indicates hybrid)].

- For all degree programmes offered through Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes, the programmes must embody a coherent course of study that is compatible with the institution’s mission, and is based upon fields of study appropriate to higher education.

- For all courses offered through Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes, the institution employs sound and acceptable practices for determining the amount and level of credit awarded (i.e. credit and non-credit bearing), and justifies the use of a unit other than semester credit hours by explaining its equivalency.

- For Online courses, 100% of the content is delivered online; there are no required face-to-face sessions within the course and no requirements for on-campus activity. Additionally, at least two (2) proctored activities are required: on-site exams, laboratory activities, and other activities as deemed necessary by the institution.

- For Hybrid Learning courses, 75-85% of instruction is delivered online and a minimum of 15% is delivered face-to-face (institutional verification is required) or via synchronous Web conferencing or Interactive video. Additionally, at least two (2) proctored activities are required such as Lab experiments, final examination and other activities identified by the institution. Course development forms must include percentage of online content and list resources/activities that will constitute that percentage.

Please Note: Distance and online Learning, Hybrid, and Correspondence course offerings must offer the same comparable learning opportunities and total hours of classroom instruction as traditional face-to-face courses.

An institution entering into consortia arrangements or contractual agreements (i.e. AA or MOUs) for the delivery of courses/programmes and or related co-curricular activities or services offered by Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid or Correspondence Education courses or programmes, must ensure that sound and acceptable practices for determining the effectiveness, and quality of the courses/programmes offered by all of the participants is employed.

Faculty

- An institution offering Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programs ensures that there is a sufficient number of faculty qualified to develop, design, and teach the courses/programmes.

Institutional Effectiveness

- The institution has clearly written policies and definitions of procedures that govern the assessment, design, development, implementation, and evaluation of its Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid/Correspondence Education courses/programmes.

- Comparability of Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid or Correspondence Education courses or programs to campus-based programmes and courses are ensured by the evaluation of educational effectiveness, including assessments of student learning outcomes, student retention, and student satisfaction.

- The institution regularly assesses the appropriateness and effectiveness of its provision of library, learning, technological, and other essential resources and student support services for Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programs students.

Library and Learning/ Information Resources

- Students have adequate and appropriate access to Virtual Library or related collections and services.

- Access is provided to laboratories, facilities, and equipment appropriate to Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes.

- The institution ensures that appropriate learning resources, including software are available to students.

Technological Resources

- The institution regularly assesses the appropriateness, effectiveness and relationalness of its technological infrastructure to support the courses/programs’ methodology.

- Appropriate and current resources and technical expertise required for Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programs are available and maintained.

Teaching Resources

- The institution regularly analyses the appropriateness, effectiveness and the relationalness of its Learning Management System in the delivery of courses/programmes.

- The institution ensures that appropriate and current teaching tools are available to students.

Student Services

- The institution ensures that appropriate communication access and resources are available to students.

- Students have adequate access to the range of services appropriate to support the courses/programmes for which they are enrolled.

- Students enrolled in Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes have adequate guidelines for filing complaints.
• Documented procedures assure that security of students’ personal information is protected during assessments and evaluations and in the dissemination of results.

• Students enrolled in Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes are able to use the technology employed, have the equipment necessary to succeed, and are provided assistance in using the technology employed.

• Students are provided with clear, complete, and timely information on the curriculum, course and degree requirements, nature of faculty/student interaction, assumptions about technological competence and skills, technical equipment requirements, and academic support services specific to students’ location and mode of delivery.

• Class schedules and registration materials for students should clearly indicate which method of instruction will be utilized in a course i.e. online, distance, hybrid, correspondence, web-enhanced and what technological requirements, if any, are required.

• Students are provided with appropriate information to include: online navigation tutorial, introduction to the Learning Management System (LMS), course syllabus, institutional policies governing Distance and Online, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes, instructor office hours and communication contacts, email addresses, LMS support system, attendance & grading policy, and system requirements.

Facilities and Equipment

• The institution ensures that the required physical, financial, communication, academic, and technological resources are available to students enrolled in Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes to facilitate leaning and enhance student learning outcomes.

• The institution ensures that the facilities, equipment and technical expertise are appropriate to meet programme or course objectives, and a plan for obsolescence is evident.

Security Services

• The institution ensures that identity of students enrolled in Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes is securely maintained and consistently verified.

• The institution ensures that integrity is maintained with regard to test taking for students enrolled in Distance and Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education courses/programmes.

Course Description: Designed to give students a comprehensive understanding of the course content and introduce them to the learning experience.

Course Objectives: The online coursework load should be structured to achieve the learning objectives as well as promote student engagement and participation.

Course Learning Outcomes: Must state what the student will accomplish and it must be measureable.

Course Materials: Must ensure that text/e-book information includes: (i) Full name of book, (ii) Author(s), (iii) Edition, (iv) Year Published, (v) Publisher(s), (vi) ISBN # and (vii) Learning Management System (LMS).

Course Content: Components i.e. modules along with descriptions must be outlined. Students’ active participation for in-class and out of class activities should be outlined. The same should include but not be limited to the following:
- Module name and length;
- Objective;
- Referenced material i.e. (text chapters etc.);
- Presentations;
- Assignments; and
- Due dates

Course Assessment & Evaluation: Evaluation Criteria and weight assigned Grading Scale.
Students will be required to:
- Verify attendance;
- Complete assignments & assessments (quizzes and final exam);
- Adhere to a Grading scale.

General & Academic Policy Statements: Ensure at a minimum the following policies are included on each course outline:
- Academic Integrity;
- Class Attendance/Absenteeism;
- Technology Requirements For The Course;
- Disruptive Student & Conduct Policy;
- Late Assignment Policy;
- Make-Up Exam Policy; and
- Course Withdrawal Policy.

Note * Also include a ‘subject to change’ statement’.
TECHNICAL REQUIREMENTS

There should be a technical requirement for all Distance Learning, Online Learning, Hybrid and Correspondence Education Courses or Programmes.

To facilitate all digital courses, institutions must ensure and/or where necessary, have a policy to ensure that students are proficient in the following:

i. Access to and the ability to use computers and related digital devices;
ii. Access to and the ability to use Internet browsers; (Internet Explorer, Microsoft office etc.);
iii. Access to and the ability to use their student portal in the Learning Management System (LMS);
iv. Access to and the ability to use internet on a regular basis.

Institutions must identify and satisfy the need of students for skill strengthening, so that all students are proficient in digital learning.
GLOSSARY OF TERMS

DISTANCE LEARNING
Distance Learning, also called Remote Learning and Virtual Instruction or Training, is a formal process of delivering instruction, educational services or support to students via electronic or other media (one-way and two-way transmissions through open broadcast, closed circuit, cable, microwave, broadband lines, fiber optics, satellite, or wireless communications devices; audio conferencing; or video cassettes, DVD’S, and CD-ROMS) regardless of the location of the student or the instructor. However, the majority of the instruction (interaction between students and instructors and among students) occurs when students and instructors are not in the same place. Instruction may be synchronous or asynchronous. (Southern Association of Colleges and Schools-Commission on Colleges, June 1997; Western Association of Senior College and University Commission 2008).

ONLINE COURSE
A course where the instruction is entirely online and delivered through the use of technology. It eliminates geography as a factor between the student and the institution (Panola College, 2019).

HYBRID LEARNING
Hybrid Learning (also known as Blended Learning) combines web-based learning with traditional (face-to-face) classroom environment. Most course activity is completed online, but there are some required face-to-face instructional activities such as lectures, discussions, labs, or other in-person learning activities. (Panola College, 2019).

CORRESPONDENCE EDUCATION
Correspondence education is a formal educational process under which the institution provides instructional materials, by mail or electronic transmission, including examinations on the materials, to students who are separated from the instructor. Interaction between the instructor and the student is limited, it is not regular and substantive, and is primarily initiated by the student; courses are typically self-paced (SACSCOC).

RELATED TERMS AND CONCEPTS

Online learning
A form of distance learning where the bulk of instruction is offered via computer and the Internet (Western Association of Schools and Colleges, 2008).

E-learning
Any electronically assisted instruction (Western Association of Schools and Colleges, 2008).

Web-enhanced course
The use of online resources or activities to enrich a component of a traditional synchronous classroom or complements in-person class sessions without reducing the number of required class meetings (Panola College, 2019).

MOOCs
Massive Open Online Courses (MOOCs) are free online courses that provide an affordable and flexible way to learn new skills, advance your career and deliver quality educational experiences at scale such as college preparations, supplemental learning, lifelong learning, and corporate eLearning & training (Commonwealth of Learning, 2016).
Open Learning
Learning based on independent study or initiative rather than formal classroom instruction (Connick, 1999).

Synchronous
A real-time learning event in which a group of students and/or instructors engage in learning at the same time, be it face-to-face or mediated technology (Connick, 1999).

Asynchronous
Web-based learning/communication which takes place between students and instructors at different times and places. It offers a choice of where and when you will access learning (Connick, 1999).
